

November 2019

For Secondary Teachers

Dear Member:

These last few years have seen much uncertainty and recent changes to the ESA and EI benefits only makes things more confusing. With the conditions of the MoU, our amended previous Collective Agreement and the OSSTF Central deal, it can be hard to know the benefits available for Maternity Leaves.

To explain the context, our provisions are a blend of old conditions, relatively new conditions and new conditions. Effective May 1st 2013, the MoU indicated that the conditions listed in our 2008-2012 Collective Agreement would remain unchanged except for the specific provisions addressed within the MoU. Under our Central deal and our Extension Agreement, these blended conditions remained status quo, with some problematic language from the MoU clarified and the local language codified in the local collective agreement. The end result is a combination of Letter of Agreement #6 of the Central deal and our 2014-2017 Local Collective Agreement. This means that maternity and parental leave benefits provisions under our contract remain the same as they have been since May 1st 2013.

However, Pregnancy/Parental leave is governed by federal and provincial legislation as well as our contractual agreements. Recent changes to the Employment Standards Act (ESA) in Ontario as a result of Bill 148 as well as the changes to the Federal Employment Insurance Act align the ESA with the available Employment Insurance (EI) benefits for employees. I have attached a general information package including excerpts from the Collective Agreement, employment insurance fact sheets, and pension information.

The MoU outlined the changes to the benefits available for Maternity Leaves under our collective agreement. Letter of Agreement #6 of the Central Table deal outlines the modified language to enshrine that these provisions remain status quo. The main provision is for eight (8) weeks of 100% salary immediately following the birth of the child for all permanent teachers as well as some teachers under term contracts. Additional Mat Leave provisions can be found in Article L14.00 of the Local Collective Agreement. (See details on pages below.) Contact the District Office to answer any questions.

In order to access Employment Insurance (EI), you will need to apply online as soon as you stop working. There have been some significant changes to EI Parental benefits recently (including the 18 month provisions) so pay close attention to those details. As well, your choices will be determined by your particular individual circumstances rather than one option that is best for all teachers. Therefore, it is important to know the various factors to consider. There are serious financial implications for these decisions so please call the District Office if you wish to discuss the issues. See the pages below for further details of EI.

After the birth, complete the Application for Maternity Benefits – Teaching Staff (attached) in order to receive your top-up. The Board requires all of the same information from you as requested on this form whether you are a permanent teacher or a contract teacher so all teachers must complete the form and submit it as indicated.

Contact Nicole Bléau at the District Office regarding required medical documentation if you need to access sick leave before the birth.

Note that in L14.03 (a), during your statutory leave year (recently extended to 18 months), full credit continues for seniority and teaching experience. Enrolment in the Benefits Plan can also continue assuming that you pay your contributions (6% of the total cost of the plan—the same as when you are working) by electronic debit at the commencement of the leave (arranged directly with OTIP). Contact Rhonda Creagmile (905 666-6414) at the Board office to make arrangements to pay your LTD premiums only.

If you wish to add the baby to your Medi-Dent coverage, you must do so within 31 days of a material change in circumstance, for example, the birth of your child, in order to not be subject to the rules governing late application. Within the 31 day period, you are automatically eligible to change your benefits (adding baby or a spouse or both, or joining the benefits plan for the first time), but after that, your request can be rejected for even the most minor of pre-existing conditions. Since there have been some technical delays with our new benefits plan, this window does not begin until you receive your email invitation to make changes to your benefits.

We highly recommend that you continue paying your Long Term Disability premiums. If you choose to discontinue these payments while you are on leave, then you are out of the plan and disabilities which arise during your leave will not be covered. A probationary period will be required upon your return during which LTD claims for pre-existing medical conditions for which you were treated while on leave will not be processed.

You are responsible for making arrangements with the College of Teachers for the fees due during the year of your leave if necessary. This is normally paid automatically with a payroll deduction through the DDSB on the first pay in January, but will not occur if you are on leave during that month.

Refer to L14.04 for provisions relating to an extended leave. In addition to the year of extended leave as described in Article L14.04, up to two years of further unpaid leave of absence under Article L13.00 are also available.

OTPP information is included here so that you can arrange to buy back this leave time for pension purposes if you choose. If you choose to continue making pension contributions while on leave or wish to buy back credit at some future date (within five years of the leave), contact the Ontario Teachers' Pension Plan for information and to make arrangements.

Finally, I have provided an information sheet which outlines the special considerations that apply to pregnant education workers with respect to communicable diseases in the workplace.

Please call the District Office if you need any further help.

Sincerely,

Nicole Bléau,
Benefits Officer

Checklist for the Process for Pregnancy and Parental Leaves

1. A teacher must give the Board two weeks written notice of the date the pregnancy leave is to begin. Simply apply online through the Portal:
Quick Links→ Employee Self Serve → HRP Link (Forms Online) (on left side of screen)
→ Forms Online → Leave of Absence → Reason for Absence: PAR Pregnancy-Parental Leave. You will need to submit a medical certificate from a legally qualified medical practitioner stating the expected birth date and you can attach your doctor or midwife's note indicating the due date on this page as well. Eligible non-permanent Teachers will apply in the same fashion, however, since this process is new for you, the leave title may be different in the drop down menu.
2. The Board should contact the Ontario Teachers' Pension Plan (OTPP) and indicate that you are beginning your leave. However, you can call them or enter the leave info into the iAccess program at www.otpp.com to begin the process for a quote about the cost of buying back your leave. You can decide to continue your pension contributions during your leave or you have the ability to purchase pension credit later within five years from the end of your pregnancy and parental leave.
3. Apply for EI online at www.servicecanada.gc.ca when you start your pregnancy/parental leave. You can start collecting benefits up to 12 weeks before your due date or at the start of the week you give birth. Service Canada and the DDSB have an electronic record sharing system which arranges for the Record of Employment (ROE) to be sent electronically from DDSB directly to Service Canada.
4. Ensure arrangements for medi-dent /Life Insurance benefits coverage directly from OTIP. If you intend to change from single to family coverage or add to your coverage, you have a 31 day window from the date of birth to make those changes. If you decide to reduce your benefits coverage for the duration of your pregnancy and parental leave, you can request to increase the amount of coverage or change from single to family within 31 days of returning to work.
5. Ensure arrangements for your LTD premiums with the DDSB through Rhonda Creagmile at the DDSB (ext. 6414)
6. Submit the DDSB Application for Maternity Benefits – Teaching Staff Form. (Attached)
You will need to provide proof from Service Canada of when you served your waiting period and of your weekly benefit rate as well as proof of the date of birth of the child (see application form for details).
7. Ensure you arrange with the College of Teachers to pay your fee in January if you are on leave for that portion of the year. This can be completed online at www.oct.ca.
8. Contact Nicole Bléau at District 13 (905 668-7100) if you need to access sick leave before the birth and/or if you experience serious medical complications with you or your baby following childbirth.

Terms of Maternity Benefits

November 2019

The terms of the MoU regarding Maternity Benefits were implemented starting May 1st 2013 and will continue under the Central deal and Extension, and allow for the following maternity leave provisions for Permanent Teachers and term contract Teachers in the DDSB:

- Eight (8) weeks of 100% salary immediately following the birth of the child; achieved by the following calculation:
 - EI: a payment from the Government of Canada for Employment Insurance; EI assigns a 1-week unpaid waiting period at the beginning of your leave followed by 15 weeks of EI Maternity Leave payments of ~$562/week (for 2019) then Parental Leave payments of either 35 weeks (Standard) at ~$562/week or 61 weeks (Extended) at ~$337/week followed by 1 week unpaid.
 - Additional weeks available if sharing benefits:
 - 5 extra weeks of Standard, 8 extra weeks of Extended
 - Top-Up: a payment from the DDSB; for eight (8) weeks immediately following the birth of the child, the DDSB will top-up the EI payment to an amount equivalent to 100% of salary.
 - Note: If you do not qualify for EI, you will receive payments from the DDSB equivalent to eight (8) weeks of 100% salary.
 - In the past, the DDSB has issued what is called a “True-Up”, a lump sum cheque to cover everything owed you in back pay and top-up pay in order to wrap up your accounts until you come back to work.

EI Waiting Period

If you are on sick leave immediately before your mat leave begins, EI will automatically waive (postpone) your waiting period. Due to our top-up provisions, serving the waiting period allows you one additional week of EI payment at the end of your leave where the postponed waiting period would be. Therefore, you should call EI and indicate that you wish to serve your waiting period. Also, if your partner intends to share your leave, one of you will be required to serve the waiting period at the beginning anyway.

LETTER OF AGREEMENT #6

BETWEEN

The Ontario Public School Boards' Association (hereinafter called 'OPSBA')

AND

The Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation (hereinafter called the 'OSSTF')

RE: Status Quo Central Items as Modified by this Agreement

The parties agree that the following central issues have been addressed at the central table and that the provisions shall remain status quo. For further clarity, the following language must be aligned with current local provisions and practices to reflect the provisions of the 2012-13 MOU. As such the following issues shall not be subject to local bargaining or mid-term amendment by the local parties. Disputes arising in respect of such provisions shall be subject to Section 43 of the School Boards Collective Bargaining Act, 2014.

1. PREGNANCY LEAVE BENEFITS

Common Central Provisions

- a) The Employer shall provide for permanent and long-term occasional teachers and teachers hired into a term position who access such leaves, a SEB plan to top up their E.I. Benefits. The teacher who is eligible for such leave shall receive salary for a period immediately following the birth of her child, but with no deduction from sick leave or the Short Term Leave Disability Program (STLDP). The SEB Plan pay will be the difference between the gross amount the teacher receives from E.I. and her regular gross pay.
- b) SEB payments are available only to supplement E.I. benefits during the absence period as specified in this plan.
- c) Teachers hired in a term position or filling a long-term assignment shall be entitled to the benefits outlined in a) above, with the length of the SEB benefit limited by the term of the assignment.
- d) Teachers on daily casual assignments are not entitled to pregnancy leave benefits.

- e) The teacher must provide the Board with proof that she has applied for and is in receipt of employment insurance benefits in accordance with the Employment Insurance Act, as amended, before SEB is payable.
- f) Teachers not eligible for employment insurance benefits or the SEB plan will receive 100% of salary from the employer for a total of not less than eight (8) weeks with no deduction from sick leave or STLDP.
- g) For clarity, for any part of the eight (8) weeks that falls during a period of time that is not paid (e.g. summer, March Break, etc.), the remainder of the eight (8) weeks of top-up shall be payable after that period of time.
- h) Teachers who require a longer than eight (8) week recuperation period shall have access to sick leave and the STDLP through the normal adjudication process.
- i) If an employee begins pregnancy leave while on an approved leave from the employer, the above maternity benefits provisions apply.
- j) The start date for the payment of the pregnancy benefits shall be the earlier of the due date or the birth of the child.
- k) Births that occur during an unpaid period (i.e. summer, March break, etc.) shall still trigger the pregnancy benefits. In those cases the pregnancy benefits shall commence on the first day after the unpaid period.

Local Bargaining Units will identify which of the SEB plans below apply in their circumstance. The applicable language must be included with the Common Central language above as paragraph I). The full article should then reside in Part B of the collective agreement;

1. A SEB plan to top up their E.I. Benefits for eight (8) weeks of 100% salary is the minimum for all eligible teachers. The teacher who is eligible for such leave shall receive 100% salary for a period not to exceed eight (8) weeks immediately following the birth of her child but with no deduction from sick leave or the Short Term Leave Disability Program (STLDP). The SEB Plan pay will be the difference between the gross amount the teacher receives from E.I. and their regular gross pay;
2. A SEB plan with existing superior entitlements;
3. A SEB or salary replacement plan noted above that is altered to include six (6) weeks at 100%, subject to the aforementioned rules and conditions, plus meshing with any superior entitlements to maternity benefits. For example, 17 weeks at 90% pay would be revised to provide 6 weeks at 100% pay and an additional 11 weeks at 90%.

ARTICLE L13.00 - OTHER LEAVES OF ABSENCE

L13.04 Without Pay

The Superintendent of Education/Operations may grant leave of absence without pay for up to one year, to members of staff, for such purposes as the following:

1. Work Experience [excluding teaching other than occasional teaching];
2. Special Request

L13.05 A teacher granted a leave without pay shall not suffer a loss of retirement gratuity, seniority or sick leave top-up credits accumulated to the time of commencement of leave and may retain, subject to carrier provisions, the employee benefits provided in paragraph L8.01 by assuming 100% of their costs.

Further, a teacher granted a leave without pay shall be paid a special payment of $25.00 once, if needed, for Teachers' Pension Plan Board purposes.

L13.06 The placement of a teacher returning from a leave is subject to the provisions of Article L4.00.

L13.07 The Superintendent of Education/Operations may suggest a deferment of leave if this appears to be in the best interests of the students and the school system.

Should I continue my Long Term Disability coverage during my leave of absence?

The answer to this question deserves careful consideration.

Long Term Disability (LTD) insurance provides a safety net that will replace a percentage of your salary and provide pension plan protection should you be unable to work because of an illness or injury.

Your LTD plan recognizes that most members are in a highly vulnerable financial position should they be confronted with a loss of income during a lengthy or permanent disability.

While on leave of absence, you have two options:

1. Maintain your LTD coverage by continuing to pay your premiums, or
2. Discontinue your LTD coverage by ceasing your premium payments.

When you return to work your coverage will be reinstated and you will be subject to a pre-existing condition clause.

Maintaining your LTD coverage

If you choose to maintain your LTD coverage and you become disabled while on leave, you are eligible to apply for LTD benefits. There will be no break in your coverage and you will not be subject to a pre-existing condition clause upon your return to work.

Example 1:

Tracey is diagnosed with cancer during her leave of absence. While undergoing cancer treatment, her leave of absence ends and she is unable to return to work. As Tracey maintained her LTD coverage during her leave, she is eligible to apply for LTD benefits. The benefits, payable on or after the date her leave is scheduled to end, will help her replace her income while she is unable to work.

Discontinuing your LTD coverage

If you become disabled while on leave, you will not be eligible for LTD benefits. Upon your return to work, your coverage will be reinstated and you will be subject to a pre-existing condition clause if you become disabled within 12 months from the date of reinstatement.

What is a pre-existing condition?

This is a disability arising from illness or injury for which you obtained medical care during the 90 day period before you become re-insured.

Example 2:

Tracey is diagnosed with cancer during her leave of absence. Tracey did not maintain her LTD coverage during her leave, therefore, she is not eligible to apply for LTD benefits to help her replace her income if she is unable to return to work. If Tracey returns to work after her leave of absence ends, her LTD coverage will be automatically reinstated, but if Tracey has to discontinue work less than one year from her reinstatement of insurance date, her benefits will be subject to a pre-existing condition clause. She can apply for LTD, but if it is determined that her medical condition is pre-existing, her LTD application will be declined.

Natalie is taking time off work to recover from childbirth. She is sharing parental benefits with her partner to care for their newborn. She takes the maximum:

15 weeks of maternity

+35 weeks of standard parental

=50 weeks total for Natalie

Her partner can apply for up to 5 weeks of standard parental benefits to care for the baby.

If Natalie chooses to take fewer weeks of parental benefits, her partner can apply for more.

Maternity plus extended parental benefits

Kelsey is taking time off work to recover from childbirth. She is sharing extended parental benefits with her partner to care for their newborn. She takes the maximum:

15 weeks of maternity

+61 weeks of extended parental

=76 weeks total for Kelsey

Her partner can apply for up to 8 weeks of extended parental benefits to care for the baby.

If Kelsey chooses to take fewer weeks of parental benefits, her partner can apply for more.

The information below should be used as a guideline. We encourage you to apply for benefits and let a Service Canada agent determine if you're eligible.

You need to demonstrate that:

- you're pregnant or have recently given birth when requesting maternity benefits
- you're a parent caring for your newborn or newly adopted child when requesting parental benefits
- your regular weekly earnings from work have decreased by more than 40% for at least one week
- you accumulated 600 insured hours* of work in the 52 weeks before the start of your claim or since the start of your last claim, whichever is shorter

*As an example, 600 hours are equivalent to 20 weeks of work at 30 hours a week.

If you had a recent claim

If you received Employment Insurance (EI) benefits in the past 52 weeks, you may not be eligible to receive the maximum number of weeks of maternity or parental benefits.

However, if you've worked 600 hours since your last claim, you could start a new claim. Contact us to find out what's best for your situation.

If you get sick or require bedrest during pregnancy

If you have health complications during pregnancy, you could be eligible for sickness benefits or for maternity benefits earlier. You must meet the conditions for each benefit.

If you're self-employed

If you registered for access to EI special benefits for self-employed people and waited 12 months from the date of your confirmed registration, you may be eligible for maternity and parental benefits. You must also meet all of the following conditions:

- The amount of time you spend on your business has decreased by more than 40% for at least one week because you're pregnant or have recently given birth or you're caring for your newborn or newly adopted child
- You earned a minimum amount of self-employed earnings during the calendar year before the year you apply for benefits. For 2019, you need to have earned at least $7,121 in 2018

If you're not a Canadian citizen

If you have a valid social insurance number, you may be eligible for maternity and parental benefits.

If you plan to travel outside of Canada, contact Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada to find out how this may impact your situation.

Eligibility period

Maternity benefits

You can start receiving maternity benefits as early as 12 weeks before your due date or the date you give birth. You cannot receive these benefits more than 17 weeks after your due date or the date you gave birth, whichever is later.

Parental benefits

You can receive parental benefits within specific periods starting the week after your child's date of birth or the date your child is placed with you for the purpose of adoption.

These periods are:

- Standard parental: within 52 weeks (12 months)
- Extended parental: within 78 weeks (18 months)

Note: The exact amount you receive will be determined once your application is processed.

The number of weeks of benefits you get depends on the benefit type you choose. The amount you receive depends on your insurable earnings* before taxes in the past 52 weeks or since the start of your last claim, whichever is shorter.

*Insurable earnings include most of the different types of compensation from employment, such as wages, tips, bonuses and commissions. The Canada Revenue Agency determines what types of earnings are insurable.

Some employers provide additional money to employees on maternity or parental leave. This is called a top-up. Check with your employer to find out if they offer a top-up.

If your weekly earnings vary or your income changes

To calculate your benefit amount, we use a specific number of your highest paid weeks of employment. We call these your best weeks. The number of best weeks we use is based on the unemployment rate where you live. It could be between 14 and 22 weeks.

If your weekly earnings vary or your income changes, your best weeks can impact your benefit amount.

Estimate your benefits

Answer the questions below to estimate your benefits, or find out what we use to calculate your benefits.

Find your economic region to learn how many best weeks are used to calculate your benefit amount. To complete your estimate, you need to know your average insurable earnings (before taxes) for those weeks. The Province of Quebec is responsible for providing maternity, paternity, parental and adoption benefits to its residents. Visit the Quebec Parental Insurance Plan for more information.

What's included in benefit calculations

- Basic rates

The basic rate used to calculate maternity and standard parental benefits is 55% of average insurable weekly earnings, up to a maximum amount. In 2019, the maximum amount is $562 a week.

For extended parental benefits, this rate is 33% of average insurable weekly earnings, up to a maximum amount. In 2019, the maximum amount is $337 a week.

- Benefit calculation

This is how we calculate your weekly benefit amount:

1. We add your insurable weekly earnings from your best weeks based on information provided by you and your Record of Employment
 2. We divide that amount by the number of best weeks based on where you live
 3. We then multiply the result by 55% for maternity and standard parental benefits or by 33% for extended parental benefits
- If your family income is $25,921 or less

You may be eligible to receive the family supplement if:

- your annual net family income is $25,921 or less
- you have at least one child under 18
- you or your spouse receive the Canada Child Benefit

Service Canada automatically adds your family supplement to your weekly benefit payments. You don't need to take any action. Your total weekly amount cannot exceed $562.

Apply as soon as possible after you stop working. If you wait more than 4 weeks after your last day of work to apply, you may lose benefits.

Choose benefits

Maternity benefits

You can start receiving maternity benefits as early as 12 weeks before your due date or the date you give birth. You cannot receive these benefits more than 17 weeks after your due date or the date you gave birth, whichever is later. A maximum of 15 weeks of benefits is available.

When you apply for maternity benefits, you can also apply for parental benefits. This will save you time later.

Parental benefits

You can start receiving parental benefits the week your child is born or placed with you for the purpose of adoption.

When applying for parental benefits, you need to choose between 2 options:

1. Standard parental (up to 35 weeks, up to $562 a week)
2. Extended parental (up to 61 weeks, up to $337 a week)

If you applied for parental benefits at the same time as maternity benefits, you don't need to apply again.

Once you start receiving parental benefits, you cannot change options.

Sharing parental benefits

If sharing benefits, each parent must choose the same option, standard or extended. Each parent must submit their own application. If parents do not choose the same option, the choice on the first application received is used to determine the parental benefit option for all parents.

When sharing, the maximum number of weeks available increases to:

- 40 weeks for standard parental
- 69 weeks for extended parental

One parent cannot receive more than 35 weeks of standard or 61 weeks of extended parental benefits. The remaining 5 weeks of standard or 8 weeks of extended parental benefits are available on a use-it-or-lose-it basis: if taken, they can only be taken by the other parent(s).

Parents can receive their weeks of benefits at the same time or one after another.

Examples

Maternity plus standard parental benefits

Julie and David are having a baby. Julie takes the full 15 weeks of maternity benefits she is entitled to. She and David each decide to take 20 weeks of standard parental benefits at the same time to care for their child.

Extended parental benefits

Sami and Alex are adopting a child. Sami decides to take 39 weeks of extended parental benefits. This means Alex can take up to 30 weeks of extended parental benefits to care for their child.

Provide additional information

Record of Employment

Employers issue a Record of Employment (ROE) to provide information on your work history. Service Canada uses the information to determine:

- whether you're eligible to receive Employment Insurance (EI) benefits
- how much you'll receive

You can visit My Service Canada Account \(MSCA\) to view ROEs that have been issued to you by past and current employers.

Electronic ROEs

Electronic ROEs are sent directly to Service Canada by your employer. You don't need to request or provide copies to Service Canada.

Paper ROEs

If your employer issues paper ROEs, you must request copies of all ROEs issued to you in the past 52 weeks. You'll need to provide them to Service Canada as soon as possible after you submit your EI application. You can mail them or drop them off at a Service Canada Centre.

Provide the date of birth

When your child's date of birth is different from the expected date of birth on your application, you must let us know the actual date of birth as soon as possible. You can:

- call 1-800-206-7218 (TTY: 1-800-529-3742)
- visit a Service Canada Centre

A benefit statement and access code will arrive by mail

Once your application is complete, Service Canada will mail you a benefit statement. This statement will include a 4-digit access code. You need this code and your SIN to inquire about your application. Receiving the EI benefit statement doesn't mean that Service Canada has made a decision about your claim.

Review your application status

To check the progress of your application, you can:

- log into MSCA
- contact Service Canada

If you're not registered with MSCA, you can create an account when you receive your access code.

When payments start

You'll receive your first payment about 28 days after you apply if you're eligible and have submitted all required information. If you're not eligible, we'll notify you of the decision made about your application.

Waiting period

Before you start receiving benefits, there is one week for which you won't be paid. We call this the waiting period. It's like the deductible that you must pay for other types of insurance.

If you apply for both maternity and parental benefits, you only need to serve the waiting period once.

If you're sharing parental benefits for the same child, only one parent will serve the waiting period.

While receiving benefits

While receiving benefits, you must continue to be eligible. Please contact Service Canada if you:

- stop providing care for your child while receiving parental benefits
- start working or earn money. For more information on how earnings impact your benefits, visit Working while on claim

If you don't inform Service Canada of these changes, you risk being overpaid and having to repay benefits.

If your situation changes

You may be eligible for other benefits. This could include sickness benefits if you become ill or caregiving benefits if your child becomes critically ill or injured. You must meet the conditions for each benefit.

If you travel outside of Canada

As long as you continue to meet eligibility conditions, you can still receive maternity and parental benefits while outside Canada.

We encourage you to contact Service Canada to speak with an agent who can give you advice on your specific circumstances.

Check or update your information

With My Service Canada Account, you can check the status of your Employment Insurance (EI) application. You can also:

If you disagree with the decision on your application for EI benefits

You can request a reconsideration of the decision. You must submit a request for reconsideration within 30 days after the day the decision was communicated to you. You can contact Service Canada to help you with your reconsideration request.

Below are some special circumstances that may impact you. Contact Service Canada to speak with an agent who can give you advice on your specific situation.

Changing your planned number of weeks

You can't change between standard and extended parental benefit options once benefits have been paid. That said, you can change the number of weeks you take as long as you don't go over the maximum for the option you chose.

Non-consecutive parental leave

If you're taking parental leave at different times during the eligibility period, you must submit an application each time you plan to receive parental benefits. If you have an existing claim, we'll reactivate it or you could start a new claim.

Health complications during pregnancy

You could be eligible for sickness benefits or for maternity benefits earlier. You must meet the conditions for each benefit.

Health complications for your child

If your child is hospitalized, your eligibility period for maternity or parental benefits could be extended. You may be eligible for other benefits. This could include caregiving benefits if your child becomes critically ill or injured. You must meet the conditions for each benefit.

Miscarriage, termination or stillbirth

If you're reading this following a loss, please accept our condolences.

If your pregnancy ends before week 20, you could receive sickness benefits.

If your pregnancy ends in week 20 or later, you could receive maternity benefits.

Parental benefits are not available.

Death of a child

If you're reading this following the loss of your child, please accept our condolences.

You should know that you're still entitled to up to 15 weeks of maternity benefits. However, parental benefits are not available. If the loss occurs while parental benefits are being paid, parents are no longer eligible as of the week following the loss. You may be eligible for other benefits.

Please inform us as soon as possible so we can update your file and make any necessary adjustments.

Your child is not legally adoptable

If your child is not legally adoptable at the time they're placed with you, benefits can be paid from the date you demonstrate that:

- you consider the placement to be permanent and
- your intent is to adopt

Multiple birth

The number of weeks of maternity and parental benefits you can get doesn't change if you have a multiple birth (twins, triplets, etc.). This is also the case if you adopt more than one child at the same time.

Surrogacy

Maternity benefits are available to people who are away from work because they're pregnant or have recently given birth, including surrogates. Parental benefits are not available to surrogates.

Canadian Forces member

If you're a Canadian Forces member (regular or reservist) who must defer or interrupt your parental leave because of an imperative military requirement, your eligibility period for parental benefits could be extended.

Buying Back My Pension: Is It for Me?

Info obtained at www.otpp.com

For a full-time teacher with a salary of around $78,000, making up for a year's gap in your pension typically costs about $10,000.

If you're like many teachers, paying for that $10,000 leave could increase your pension by about $1,800 each year.

Most of our retired members collect a pension for about 30 years, so paying for that leave today could mean you'll get as much as $56,000 more throughout your retirement.

A few things to keep in mind:

- Your pension is about as close to a guaranteed investment as you can get. When you retire, your monthly payments will be determined by a formula, not the ups and downs of the market.
- Paying for your leave will increase your service credit. The more service credit you have, the bigger your pension.
- To maintain your retirement goal, consider paying for your entire leave.
- Why not just work an extra year to make up for your leave? Let's face it, the closer you get to your 85 factor, the more valuable retirement will likely be.
- You can pay for as little or as much of your leave as you want. You'll receive service credit that is proportional to the amount you've paid.
- You have up to five years from the end of your leave to pay.
- Interest will be applied to the cost of your buyback beginning the first of the month following the end of your leave.
- Pay for your leave with cash (online banking or cheque), RRSPs or a combination of both. You can't pay with a credit card or through payroll deduction.
- If you decide to pay for your leave, it's best for you to tell OTPP by April 30 of the calendar year following the year your leave ends. This'll make your tax situation less complicated.

The cost

Let's say you took one year away from full-time work. Your salary, as reported by your employer, was around $78,000 before your leave. To get a rough idea of how much your leave would cost, multiply the salary you earned before your leave by the contribution rate(s) for the leave period you're paying for (2019's contribution rate is 12%).

$78,000 X 12% = $9,360 plus interest
